

• PATIENT INFO •

MARIJUANA RISKS

IF YOU USE CANNABIS (MARIJUANA / THC / WEED / POT) WE WANT YOU TO BE AWARE OF POTENTIAL EFFECTS

SEVERE VOMITING

Vomiting can affect people even if they have used THC before without problems. The only cure is stopping THC, though some people feel relief with hot showers or capsaicin cream spread on the skin of the abdomen

OVERDOSE

Overdose can cause confusion or other side effects. Keep any THC products secure to avoid children or pets accidentally eating them. Don't mix them with alcohol or other drugs

BABY EXPOSURE

Don't use THC while pregnant or breastfeeding. THC is stored in the body and can be released to your baby over a long period. This can harm the development of your child

DEPENDENCE

THC can be addictive and cause physical and emotional problems, especially in people who use it frequently. If you want help, talk to your doctor or call the number below:

LEGAL PROBLEMS

While some states may permit THC use, it is still a Federal crime. Using THC could lead to legal punishments or being fired from government jobs

CAR ACCIDENTS

THC slows your reaction time. Driving under the influence of THC or other drugs can lead to accidents and severe injury

NATIONAL SUBSTANCE USE DISORDER HOTLINE

1-800-662-4357 OR WWW.FINDTREATMENT.GOV

American College of Emergency Physicians®